HydraMaster Corp., manufacturer of truckmount carpet extractors and related carpet-, hard surface and pressure-washing equipment, has officially introduced its new Boxxer 323 truckmount system

Mukilteo, WA - September 13, 2010 - HydraMaster Corp., manufacturer of truckmount carpet extractors and related carpet-, hard surface and pressure-washing equipment, has officially introduced its new Boxxer 323 truckmount system.

Developed by HydraMaster's Senior Project Engineer, Chris Ryan, the 323 is "both innovative yet built on proven technology," he says.

The 323 is optimized for pressure washing, hard surface cleaning as well as conventional carpet and upholstery cleaning. This, according to Ryan, allows the carpet cleaning technician "to take on a variety of new jobs, expanding services and profit potential."

Unique for a truckmount of this size, the 323 delivers continuous hot water, at more than 200 F at up to 2,500 psi and 3.4 gallons per minute, a first for the truckmount industry.

But along with new innovations, reliability was a big concern. To ensure the 323 is both reliable and durable, Ryan says, many of the components that have proven their durability in other HydraMaster truckmount extractors were used in the 323.

For instance, the machine uses a larger and more powerful version of the Briggs & Stratton engine, which has proven its value in another extractor manufactured by HydraMaster.

Additionally, the heating system installed in the 323 has been in use on a number of HydraMaster truckmounts for more than four years. Ryan says they also have proven their power and dependability.

"With the current state of the economy, carpet cleaning technicians are very cautious about selecting a new machine," he adds. "They want something that is proven, cost effective, and performs. That was our goal with the 323 and from the feedback we have received, it appears we have accomplished it."

The new 323 will be on display at the Connections Convention and Trade Show in late September in Las Vegas as well as the ISSA/INTERCLEAN North America Trade Show to be held in Orlando in November.
