New Restroom Hygiene System Designed to Improve Health and Hygiene

Norcross, GA—27 March 2008—Although not as well-known in North America, Cannon Hygiene is one of the world's top restroom hygiene service businesses.

The firm is part of the giant OCS Property Services Group based in Sanderstead, England, which has worldwide sales of US$1.2 billion and employs 57,000 people in five continents.

Cannon Hygiene's products and services are well-respected and have even been selected to help maintain the hygiene standards of several British royal households, including Buckingham Palace.

The firm is now establishing select franchise, specialist service opportunities in the U.S. and has recently expanded to eight states from its headquarters in Atlanta, Georgia.*

Products and Services

Cannon Hygiene provides a comprehensive range of restroom hygiene services for commercial, educational, and government facilities, etc. These restroom solutions are focused on protecting health and improving hygiene, especially now with increased concern of cross-contamination, MRSA, and other pathogens.

Among the services and products the firm and its franchisees offers:

- No touch feminine hygiene disposal units, which Cannon Hygiene service technicians maintain
- A variety of restroom fragrance systems
- Touch-free water systems for faucets, toilets, and urinals
- Automatic sanitizer units to help eliminate odors and keep pipes clean—eliminating scale and uric acid buildup, which keeps maintenance and replacement costs to a minimum
- Toilet seat sanitizers
- Toilet, paper, and soap dispensers, all designed for minimal or no touch operation
- Touch free hygienic hand dryer
- Restroom infant care units.

“We operate in thirty countries with customers ranging from government agencies to multinational finance companies,” says Doug Calvert, President of Cannon Hygiene US. “Our company goal is to raise the standards of restroom hygiene in the U.S., just as we have in other areas of the world.”
