Press Release

Release date: May 12, 2008

Safety First

Food quality is the main focus in a commercial kitchen, but without safety, the cuisine-and the workers-can come up cold.

Commercial kitchens can minimize slips, trips, and falls with Crown's Safety-Step(TM) interlocking matting system.

These molded, beveled-edged rubber mats have a slip-resistant surface and large holes for drainage of liquids and solids. And the built-in interlocking system can be totally customized.

The mats are for use not only in foodservice facilities but in factories, workshops, and industrial settings-wherever worker safety is a prime concern.
