
EcoLogo Announces Green Licensees for 2007

Contributed by Chris

OTTAWA, Canada -- EcoLogo, North America's largest environmental certifying and labeling program, has released a listing of new EcoLogo licensees for 2006.

The list includes some of the largest manufacturers in the professional cleaning industry, such as JohnsonDiversey and Rochester Midland, as well as paper manufacturing companies like Scott Paper, and firms that produce building construction products or generate 'green' electricity.

The EcoLogo Program certifies the environmental leadership claims for products and services in dozens of industries and hundreds of product categories. This includes everything from cleaning chemicals, building materials, agricultural products, and air travel, to automotive and boating tools and equipment.

In addition to certification, EcoLogoM develops strategies to help clients market their environmentally preferable products. "Certification is just the first step in the process," says Kevin Gallagher, Vice President of EcoLogo. "The more successful our clients are at marketing their Green offerings, the healthier it is for our environment." The following is a list of the new EcoLogo licensees:
