HydraMaster and U.S. Products add four new staffers

MUKILTEO, WA — HydraMaster and U.S. Products have announced they have filled four key positions within both divisions, according to a press release.

"This is one of the first things we started doing when I joined the company earlier this year," said Mickey McKee, head of sales and marketing for both HydraMaster and U.S. Products.

"After an exhaustive search, we have recruited four people who know our industry, know our end-customer and can help us build both divisions to a more prominent level," McKee added.

According to the release, the positions that have been filled are: Doyle Bloss, marketing and brand manager for HydraMaster/U.S. Products; Joe Verslui, national accounts manager; Mark Baxter, product manager for HydraMaster/U.S. Products; and Ollie Nielson, Southeast regional manager.

"These additions to our team will be key to making both brands stronger and more aggressive and allow us to put more of our energy and focus on new, innovative solutions and quality products for our end customers," McKee noted.
