Kudos for a Sustainable Green Cleaning Program

Transferring from conventional to Green cleaning is not always easy. In fact, it can require a lot of time and training, selecting just the right products that are not only proven Green but high performing and effective.

The South Milwaukee School District recently took on this challenge. Fortunately, they had a distributor, Tartan Supply, which made the transition as easy and effortless as possible.

They also had the products. The school district selected proven-Green cleaning chemicals from Enviro-Solutions, a leading manufacturer of Green cleaning products.

"The sustainable, Green cleaning program Tartan and Enviro-Solutions devised was easy to incorporate and improved the overall cleanliness of our schools," says Jeff Siegman, the district's Manager of Buildings and Grounds.

"[It has also helped us] lower labor costs and enhance the health and well-being of our students, teachers, and visitors. We are grateful to both companies."
