

PEX Series Carpet Extractors from U.S. Products Readied for Connections Tradeshow

U.S Products, a leading manufacturer of carpet, floor care, and restoration cleaning equipment, announces that its new PEX Series of Carpet Extractors will be on display at the upcoming Connections Tradeshow to be held in Las Vegas, NV. September 7 thru September 10, 2011.

Mukilteo, Wash (PRWEB) August 23, 2011 -- U.S Products, a leading manufacturer of carpet, floor care, and restoration cleaning equipment, announces that its new PEX Series of Carpet Extractors will be on display at the upcoming Connections Tradeshow in Las Vegas, NV.

The machines, co-developed by engineers at U.S. Products and Nilfsk-Advance, were on display at last year's ISSA/INTERCLEAN North America® tradeshow. However, this is the first year they will be displayed at Connections, the leading tradeshow for the carpet cleaning industry.

The new system is available in two models:

- The Carpet and Rug Institute (CRI) Silver-certified 200 with adjustable 50 to 200 psi and a dual 2-stage vacuum motor; and
- The CRI Gold-certified 500 with 50 to 500 psi, complete with a dual 3-stage vacuum motor.

Both units have an upright “dolly” design to make it easier for one-person maneuvering as well as on-demand 212 F heat. According to Mickey McKee, vice president of sales and marketing for U.S. Products, one of the key benefits of the machine is how quiet it is.

“Quieter machines result in less [worker] fatigue, are less disruptive in both homes and offices, and compliment Day Cleaning systems,” he says.

He adds that the company is beginning a series of tests to confirm its low decibel rating in multiple cleaning situations.
